APPLIED HEALTH SCIENCE / NURSING DUAL DEGREE

Nursing is a profession that draws you in, because of a desire to care, to serve and help others. It becomes a part of you, a passion and intensity, not just a job. TU and Mercy College of Ohio has partnered to bring classes to achieve your passion for helping others, with access to the top clinical sites and practicing medical professionals in the area – leading to great job prospects in a field that you love.

Employment of RNs is expected to grow much faster than the average for all occupations through 2024. In fact, registered nurses are projected to generate approximately 711,900 new jobs, among the largest number of new jobs for any occupation. The national annual wage for registered nurses ranges from $47,150 – $102,990, with the median wage being $68,450, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

By partnering with Mercy College, students will have access to top clinical sites and practicing medical professionals, leading to great job opportunities as they will likely be able to obtain positions within Mercy Health. Dual credentials allow students to demonstrate to future employers that they have the foundational knowledge of allied health sciences to support their practice as a nurse.

The B.S. Applied Health Sciences and B.S.N. Pre-licensure program requires students to take classes at Tiffin University's campus and Mercy College's campus in Toledo.
